The Promotion exercises of the Public Schools of Northfield was held at the town hall last Friday evening at 8 o'clock with the hall crowded to capacity with the parents and friends of the young students. The stage was splendidly decorated with flowers and greens and everywhere the class colors of green and gold predominated. The processional and recessional was by Miss Marion Webster. The invocation and benediction was by the Rev. W. Stanley Carne. The program included a Salute to the flag, the class welcome by Ian French, an essay by Ellen Giebel, the class poem by Thelma Richardson, the prize essay by Etna Stevens, the presentation of class gifts by Margaret Donahue and Miriam Hunt, the singing of the class song with words written by Florence Hale. Principal M. L. Glazier in behalf of Supt. L. W. Robbins presented the Certificates of Promotion. Songs were sung by members of Grades 7 and 8. The following pupils were promoted and will doubtless enter the high school next fall.

Graduates With Splendid Honors

Miss Virginia Powell, great granddaughter of Dwight L. Moody and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Powell of Wayne, Pa., was a graduate this month of the Radnor High School of Wayne in a class of sixty. She was awarded the highest scholastic standing of the seniors on the basis of 40 per cent for scholarship, 30 per cent for athletics and 30 per cent for character and leadership. She received the prize from the faculty and her name inscribed on the school tablet at the school. She was elected to the National Honor Society for the second year, received the Phi Beta Kappa award for mathematics, literature and language, the award of the Woman's Club for character service and the award of a gold basketball emblem for captaincy of the team.

This summer Virginia will be at the home of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Pitt and will assist at The Bookstore. This fall she is planning to enter at Mount Holyoke college.

Dr. Miller Leaves; Goes To Boston

Dr. Bretney Miller the resident physician at Mount Hermon school since 1932 has accepted a position at the Massachusetts General hospital at Boston and has begun his work there. He has maintained a splendid degree of health among the students at Hermon and placed its health standards on a good basis. Dwight's home has become very efficient in service and there is a close cooperation with the Brattleboro Memorial hospital for emergency. His successor will be named soon and begin work with the re-opening of the school in the fall.

Schell Bridge Being Used

The Schell bridge from East Northfield to South Vernon which was badly damaged by the flood is being used again. Whether it is opened officially or not has not been ascertained. A temporary roadway was constructed leading from the bridge across the devastated farms and is a single right of way. It's about time the public were informed of the situation which is holding up repairs to this bridge and the construction of a straight and permanent road to South Vernon. Looks as though the Democratic powers that be at Boston are giving Northfield the "ha ha."

Attended Reunion

Mr. J. F. Bittinger attended the commencement at Dartmouth college last week and the reunion of his class of fifty years ago. Out of 22 living members, 18 were present and the class was awarded the silver cup for the best attendance.

ALFRED M. LANDON

Republican Candidate for President

"Tell the people of Massachusetts," he said, "that I am extremely grateful to them for their expression of confidence."

Thumbnail Sketch Of Landon's Life

Alfred Mossman Landon was born at West Middlesex, Pennsylvania, September 9, 1887. He spent his boyhood in Ohio and got his preparatory schooling at Marietta Academy. When the family went to Kansas in 1904, he entered the law school of the University of Kansas at Lawrence, graduating in 1908. He passed the state bar examination but did not enter into practice.

After a short experience in an Independence, Kansas, bank, he went into the oil business as a strictly independent operator and, while he is not considered a wealthy man, made a distinct success of it.

In 1915, he was married to Margaret Fleming, of Oil City, Pennsylvania, who died in 1918, leaving a daughter, Peggy Ann, now 18 years old. In 1930, he was married to Theo Cobb, of Topeka, Kansas. They have two children, Nancy Josephine, 3 years old, and John Cobb, 2 years old.

Governor Landon enlisted in 1918, and was assigned to the chemical warfare division. He is an active member of the American Legion. His political record includes participation in minor capacities in presidential campaigns beginning in 1912, a short term as private secretary to Governor Henry J. Allen, director of Governor Clyde M. Reed's successful campaign in 1928 and a term as Republican state chairman. In the 1932 race for the governorship he won over Harry Woodring by 5600 votes, while Roosevelt was carrying the state by 75,000 and was re-elected in 1934 by 62,000 majority.

His administrative career was marked by his sponsorship of the Cash Basis Act the Tax Limitation Law and the Budget Law—a trinity of enactments passed by a cordially co-operating legislative body of Democrats and Republicans, which has enabled Kansas to balance its budget and keep it balanced. Posing as no "miracle man," he has nevertheless given Kansas a straight-forward, sensible business administration, reducing taxes and expenses markedly, and allowing this prairie commonwealth to live strictly within its means.

He is a member of the Methodist church, of the Masonic, Elk and Moose lodges, of the Kansas Bar association and of Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Delta Phi fraternities.

Phebe M. Stancliff

Mrs. Phebe M. Stancliff after a long illness died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Gray, on Winchester road on Wednesday of this week. The funeral will be held at the home on Saturday at two o'clock.

Hostel Youths Are Ready For Their Tours

The headquarters of the American Youths Hostel in their home on Main street is a busy place these days and each week end a number of groups of young people gather to talk over and make arrangements for their summer vacation. The first group of hostellers are to leave Northfield for Japan the first of next week and on the 26th the European contingent will start and take a ship from New York. They will visit parts of France, Germany, the British Isles and Scandinavia. Many foreign guests are expected also in America and with many American young people will make the pilgrimage with "bikes" over the circuits of hostellers arranged through New Hampshire and Vermont, covering both the White and Green Mountains.

The Youths Hostel Movement is finding ready approval with our young folks and the interest in the movement is rapidly spreading.

"Phantom Bells" To Be Given Again

The play, "The Phantom Bells" which received such a favorable approval when produced at the town hall some time ago in a benefit for the Congregational church choir, will again be put on the stage in Silverthorne hall on the Seminary campus, Tuesday evening, June 30, at 8 o'clock. The same cast will appear in the production.

In Accident Suits

Oscar C. and Mary Mello of Northfield have filed suits in superior court against Daniel J. Richardson, also of Northfield, to recover for alleged personal injuries Mrs. Mello received in an automobile accident on Main street in Northfield, June 1, 1935.

The plaintiffs claim the defendant, driving negligently, crashed into a parked car in which Mrs. Mello was sitting. The latter seeks $5000. Her husband has sued for $2000.

Dear Editor,
I have had many inquiries from time to time regarding the possibility of securing a letter carrier for delivery of mail to the homes. I believe it is possible to secure one, and if those along the Main street would communicate with me regarding their wishes on the matter, I would be glad to take it up with the Department for consideration. Lawrence D. Quinlan

Student Conference Erects Monument At Mount Hermon

The 50th anniversary of the founding of the Northfield Student Conference was observed with the recent meeting of that Conference at Mount Hermon. The sessions were held with a goodly attendance and an unusual number of good speakers, among whom were Prof. John Macmurray, Dr. Robert E. Speer, Dr. Sherwood Eddy and Dr. David R. Porter. The Northfield Student Conference has accomplished a great deal of good and its record of accomplishments have made history in the nation and the world.

From its ranks have come many of the great religious leaders whom we know today like Dr. Mott, Dr. Speer, Dr. Eddy, Dr. Porter and Dr. Wilder. From it have come the inspiration of the Student Volunteer Movement which has witnessed the call of 13,000 Americans and Canadians to the missionary fields of the earth. From it has come that fine organization, the Inter-collegiate Y. M. C. A. and the World Student Christian Federation now operating in thirty nations with unbounded success.

To memorialize the founding of the Student Conference here a large granite monument was erected last Saturday on the greensward just south of the Memorial Chapel.

Formal dedication ceremonies will be held at this monument in the middle of August, when Dr. John R. Mott, chairman of the International Missionary Council and one of the group of students attending the first conference held here on this spot in 1886, will preside and give the dedication address.

The stone is made of Vermont granite, with the front part bearing the inscription done in rough polish and the other sides chipped. It stands over 7 feet high, is 4 feet wide at the base tapering slightly, and is a foot thick. A Maltese cross decorates the upper part on the front side of the stone, flanked on either side by the dates 1886 and 1936. Below is the name "Mount Hermon." The inscription reads as follows:

Here, in July, 1886 to the Glory of God and to the advancement of His Kingdom, Dwight L. Moody and the Inter-collegiate Young Men's Christian Association of the United States and Canada called together a conference of students from twenty-seven states, and many lands beyond the seas. From the spiritual impulse here given one hundred men offered their lives for foreign missionary service. A widespread spiritual awakening was begun in the colleges. Similar conferences were established throughout the world. The Student Volunteer Movement was founded in 1888, and guidance was given the Christian Student Movement through the years. "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life."

Goes To Oslo

Rev. J. L. Peacock, pastor of the First Baptist church at Tabor, N. C., a summer resident of Rustic Ridge and former president of the association will attend the World's Sunday School convention at Oslo, Norway this summer and does not expect to reach Northfield until his return the latter part of August. Dr. Peacock represents the Sundry Schools of his denomination in North Carolina.

Grange To Picnic

The annual picnic of the Northfield Grange will be held at Packard Heights on Wednesday, June 24. Cars will leave the Grange hall at 2 o'clock. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock. All members are urged to attend and bring plate, cup, fork and spoon.

Massachusetts Granges are greatly enthused over a new project just launched, which bears every indication of going through to a successful consummation. This is the erection of a Grange "Hostess House" on the big Eastern States Exposition grounds at Springfield, at whose annual exhibit all the New England Granges successfully unite.

The roads approaching the Northfield Hotel are being greatly improved. They are being widened and tarred and the bushes which had previously hindered a clear view of the approach have been removed.

The Senior Class Graduates Tonight At The Town Hall

The graduation exercises of the class of 1936 of the Northfield High School will be held this Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the town hall. Thirteen students who have pursued their course of studies and passed their examination will receive their graduation diplomas from the hands of Supt. L. W. Robbins. The announcement of the Pro Merito members will be made by Principal Evelyn G. Lawley and Donald B. Finch.

Dr. Paul D. Moody

President of the Alumni association will award the Alumni prizes. The address will be delivered by Dr. Paul D. Moody, President of Middlebury College of Middlebury, Vt. Members of the graduating class are: Grace Florence Tenney, Helen Wozniak, Homer William Browning, Joseph John Butinski, Albert Leon Cembalisky, Beatrice Elizabeth Lackey, Paul Michael Ladzinski, Fanny Louise Lombard, Karl William Mankowsky, Esther Winnie Thompson, Robert Thayer Thompson, Helen Elizabeth Williams, and John Wozniak.

Sensible Viewpoint On Wild Game

Fish and game could be harvested like any other farm crop if the public would cooperate in a complete program of conservation, according to R. E. Trippensee, professor of wild life management at Mass. State College. But unless such a program is carried out, hunting and fishing by the common man will disappear.

Under the harvesting program, farmers, sportsmen, and the general public would cooperate in improving the environment and establishing a plan of game management for each area which would increase the supply of game by improving natural conditions and by restricting the kill of game to the number which represents the annual surplus of each species.

"The land owner," he said, "is really the key to wild life conservation, because he controls the food supply. Generally each farm has some waste land that could be used for wild life production. Land owners could fence in these waste areas to keep out farm animals and predatory dogs. They can plant shrubs that will hold fruit during the winter—wild grapes, barberries, oriental apples, bitter-sweet. And if they left a little grain, it would help to carry through more breeding stock for the next year's crop."

"Contrary to wide-spread belief, wild game will reproduce quite rapidly if given a chance. The trouble is we don't give them half a chance. In an experiment in Michigan, six deer—three does and three bucks—were put in a 1200-acre enclosure in 1928, and in seven years they had multiplied to 252.

"As citizens, we must discard the idea that a hunting license fee of $3.25 entitles us to $20 worth of meat and $100 worth of pleasure. It's one of those things that can't be done."

S. P. C. C. Campaign

Although the campaign for funds for the S. P. C. C. of Franklin county will not be undertaken until fall in common with other communities, yet the sum of $32.00 has already been voluntarily sent in according to a statement issued by Mrs. W. Herbert Nichols the President of the organization. The raising of funds is proceeding in Greenfield and some of the other towns and the amount of $1397.05 has already been realized of the total budget required.

Northfield Supports Haigis For Governor On Convention Eve

Northfield joined in the great demonstration given John W. Haigis, candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket on the eve of the convention meeting in the auditorium at Springfield. The Northfield Haigis-for-Governor club with Mr. A. G. Moody, president had a good delegation down at Springfield Thursday evening and the banners which they carried spoke volumes of enthusiasm. The crowd from Northfield went down by automobile while some took the train at Greenfield. Two bands accompanied the county delegations. The county is solid for Haigis and Northfield wants Haigis too.

Spencer's Break May Be Solved

A group of juveniles have been apprehended in Fitchburg who are accused in being implicated in the series of safe robberies and breaks in the county recently. It is presumed that they were led by a modern "Fagin" and a man, Leon K. Demini of Athol has been arrested who is said to have taught boys ranging from 14 to 21 years of age, to steal cars and take part in other felonies. He is said to have paid them amounts from a few cents to $1.10 for this work, and three juveniles, as well as Demini, are being held in Worcester for the grand jury.

Police say they are convinced they are implicated in a wide series of automobile thefts and breaks in Western Massachusetts southern Vermont and New Hampshire.

While Corp. George Carter of the Shelburne Falls barracks would not confirm the belief that the group was implicated in the breaks last month, Detective Nelligan and Inspector McCarthy of the State Police said that with their capture, the breaks in Northfield as well as other sections, had been solved.

VESTIGA

I took a day to search for God
And found Him not. But as I trod
By rock ledges, through woods untamed,
Just where a scarlet lily flamed
I saw His footprint in the sod.
Then suddenly all unaware,
Far off in the deep shadows, where
A solitary hermit thrush
Sang through the holy twilight hush,
I heard His voice upon the air.
And even as I marveled how
God gives us heaven here and now,
In a stir of wind that hardly shook
The poplar leaves beside the brook
His hand was light upon my brow.
At last with evening as I turned Homeward, and thought what I had learned,
And all that there was still to probe
I caught the glory of His robe
Where the last fires of sunset burned.
Back to the word with quickening start
I looked and longed for any part
In making saving Beauty be
And from the kindling ecstasy
I knew God dwell within my heart

LIFE'S JOURNEY

Life is like a journey
Taken on a train,
With a pair of travelers
At each windowpane.
I may sit beside you
All the journey through;
Or I may sit elsewhere
Never knowing you
But if Fate should mark me
To sit at your side,
Let's be pleasant travelers—
It's so short a ride!

LOCALS

The Northfield baseball team was too much for the Leyden team at a game played at the hotel grounds last Thursday evening. The score was 11-3. Shearer was the pitcher for the locals.

Members of the Country Bankers' association held a dinner meeting at the Sweetheart Tea House at Shelburne Falls last Friday evening. The speaker was J. F. Ebersole, Professor of Finance at Harvard University.

Announcement that the Old Home Day will be observed at Warwick on Wednesday, Aug. 19, gladdens the heart of many Northfield residents who formerly had their homes there. As usual the Northfield baseball team will expect to cross bats with their Warwick friends. Quite an attendance of local folk is always evident at the annual outing.

On Tuesday afternoon a porcupine was treed in the maple tree just west of the post office on the grounds of the Henry Moore cottage. Dogs wildly running the lawn had kept it there, and caused quite a commotion until discovered. A gun was secured and after three shots the animal fell to the ground dead. Although removed some dogs nosed about and afterward had to undergo the ordeal of having some quills extracted. Interested persons picked up a quantity of the quills on Wednesday and they were a study in natural history to many.

Mr. James McRoberts of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is a summer resident of Northfield has purchased of Spencer Bros. a Lincoln Zephyr car.

POET'S CORNER

THE VIOLETS

Down in the grassy meadow
A little violet grew—
She had no pretty companions
And she was very blue.

One day a little sparrow
Brought a seed that way—
He laid it down beside her
And there he let it stay.

The sun poured heat upon it
And showers kept it wet;
After a time it blossomed
And was a yellow-violet.

The two grew there together
Were companions—as you see,
And when I passed them by
They would smile and nod to me.

They were very beautiful;
The blue was like the sky
The yellow like the golden sun
Shining from on high.

CONFESSIONS OF THE Duchess of Northfield

Before the Duke and I moved to Northfield we used to live in our Scottish castle at Alberquerque (pronounced "A-choo"). I had more servants than my dog had fleas—and he was a very flea-y Great Dane. There was Lilly, the third assistant chamber-maid, and Plotkins, the fourth vice-butler, and Eva, the mistress of the kerosene lamps and—gosh, I can't remember all of them.

"Then there was Eva . . . the mistress of the kerosene lamps," so worn out that I couldn't tell whether clubs or hearts were trumps (usually it was spades).

Then we moved to Northfield and I decided to go modern and have just one servant—a quiet, powerful girl named Electricity. What that girl can't do—she's a wonder!

Take cooking for instance. I turn a couple of knobs and presto—breakfast is ready! In the afternoon the Duke and I go for a spin in the Rolls Royce and when I get home—there's dinner all ready to serve in the oven of the electric range, with a frozen dessert in the electric refrigerator.

Not only that, but Electricity does the washing and ironing, washes the dishes, empties the garbage, vacuums the rugs, and brings me Gracie Allen over the radio.

"My word," said the Duke smugly, "this is the life—that girl Electricity is a corker. And say—do you know—I was looking at the royal check book the other night—and how much do you think she costs us?"

"My word," said the Duke, waving the Royal Check Book.

"I don't know," says I, helping myself to another piece of fudge I had made in the electric refrigerator.

"Just 27 cents a day," marvels the Duke. "That's less than our fourth assistant deputy keeper of the frying pans used to cost us in the old days—remember?"

"I try not to—," says I. "Let's go to a movie."

EDITORIAL

A new book has made its appearance entitled "The Heart of New England." It takes by description much of the interesting and historic places of the Connecticut Valley and at some length refers to Northfield. But if the statement of facts about other localities is as incorrect as that published concerning our community and its institutions, the book has but little value. The writer of the volume has a "comedy of errors" on his hands.

America, the song says, is not only the "home of the brave" but also the "land of the free." It has been the haven of the world's persecuted. It was founded because a small group of settlers in a new land insisted upon an escape from tyranny. It has prided itself upon freedom—of speech, of the press, of doing what its citizens choose to do in the pursuit of happiness. It has fought, time and again, for those things.

Fortunately, most of the fighting has been done with influences outside the borders of the nation. That has kept the citizens free from malice toward one another. Occasionally, however, it has been necessary for folks to do a little fighting at home. Not with guns and swords; but with words.

In each case, the press—the newspapers—have been leaders. The result is that the United States now stands out in the world as a free nation. Its newspapers say what they think, except that the laws of libel keep them from maligning, maliciously, a man's personal character.

The Back Yard Gardener

For the first time in my life, I've found a man who believes that being lazy is a good idea. He refers, of course, to hoeing a garden, a job at which you and I usually work our fool heads off. A fellow by the name of Snyder who is in the vegetable gardening department at the Massachusetts State College is the guy who comes forth with this idea.

He says that the old-fashioned garden hoe is still the best implement, but when you use one just be a little bit lazy. You want to be lazy when you buy the hoe. In other words, buy one that is real light in weight and has a narrow blade from top to bottom. It really makes hoeing much more pleasant, and this narrow blade is much easier to handle.

You see some people cultivating in the garden with a hoe and swinging it as though they were using a pickaxe. Here's the second place where you want to be lazy. If you have ever watched an experienced gardener work, you found that he kept the blade of the hoe level with the ground and that he cut off the weeds rather than dug them out.

The main thing in the garden is to keep the weeds down. A dirt mulch is not really necessary except in extremely dry periods. Here in New England we seldom have trouble with that. On the other hand, a dirt mulch one-half inch thick is just as valuable as one two or three inches thick. Here again, you see, it is a proposition of being lazy when using the hoe.

Of course, there are other ways of controlling weeds. Many people are using mulch paper, the chief disadvantage being the expense. And you have no doubt seen advertised a good many of the so-called weed killers, chemicals of one sort or another. These weed killers may be all right on a tennis court or on a gravel walk, but they certainly should be used in the vegetable garden or the flower garden. It's only common sense that anything that will kill weeds is pre-ty sure to kill the vegetables. So when all is said and done, the old fashioned hoe, if you are just inclined to be a bit lazy, is a very effective means of controlling weeds.

About The Moths

Te little moth miller that flits about the house and causes untold worry to the housewife actually does no harm in itself, according to Mrs. Eather Cooley Page, extension clothing specialist at Massachusetts State College. A fur neck-piece would be safe in a whole roomful of them. But once the moth's voracious children, the young worms, get to chewing, the neckpiece has a short life left.

Eggs, laid by the moths, may be present in overcoats that were put aside with the coming of warm weather. From these eggs, come the tiny worms that play havoc with the wardrobe unless proper precautions are taken. Ordinary moth balls, Mrs. Page says, are effective in driving away the adult moths, and hence are no protection at all against the real pest, the worm.

However, there are chemicals which will kill moths in almost any stage of development. The ones usually recommended are naphthalene flakes, and paradichlorobenzene, commonly known as PDB. These white crystals give off fumes which are deadly to moths but perfectly safe to humans. To be effective, the garment and the chemicals must be shut in a tight compartment, such as a closet, trunk, or chest.

Mrs. Page warns against storing clothes moths with the winter woollens and furs when they are put away. Dry cleaning or thorough brushing and airing should rid the garment of moths, eggs, and worms. Storing the garments in a cedar chest may prevent moth damage if the chest is perfectly tight, and if it is made of cedar wood at least three-quarters of an inch thick. Cedar veneer has little effect on clothes moths.

Some garments may be protected by wrapping them in tight paper bags. Moths will not eat through paper, but they will crawl through holes. No matter what system is used, garments must be rid of moths before they are put away.
